WOW

This term will be full of events from camping to sports day. We will be doing as much outdoor learning as possible and hopefully making the most of sunny days.

Literacy/Communication:

This half term, our English grammar will focus on the use of commas to avoid ambiguity and words/phrases which bring cohesion across sentences or paragraphs. We will continue our weekly reading comprehension exercises. We are particularly looking forward to developing our knowledge of play scripts as we join with year 6 in rehearsing and performing the end of term play.

Numeracy:

There will be a large focus on maths as we bring our learning together by looking at geometry, converting units from kilometres to metres, centimetres to millimetres etc. , time, volume and capacity. There will also be weekly arithmetic and reasoning and problem solving sessions to boost the children's skills and knowledge.

Science:

Our work on forces will continue for the first few weeks as the children increase their ability to carry out tests and record experiments. This will be followed by the topic 'Animals, including humans' which will tie into PSHE as we explore human growth, development and relationships.

Design

To go alongside the exciting camping opportunity at school, we will be bringing our science knowledge into action as we consider the challenge of designing a tent for 21st century living.

Music

Trumpet/trombone lessons will continue for those who have chosen to continue their musical interests and we will look forward to an end of term concert. Singing will also be a key focus for our end of year production.

Geography:

With a focus on our locality we will explore some of the human and physical geographical aspects around is.

Art and design:

Our work on portraits will continue and link to RE and PSHE as we explore the work of Lee Jeffries- a spiritual photographer who takes photos of homeless people.

PSHE:

Continuing to think about justice/injustice, wealth and pverty, we will be asking moral and ethical questions of ourselves and the world. We will also be covering SRE.

RE:

We will be thinking about the importance of Eid in Islam and considering Rites of Passage within our own lives and significant events in a journey of faith, such as baptisms, bar/bat mitzvah, sacred thread.

PE:

PE will focus on Athletics as we prepare for Sports Day. Children will be encouraged to enjoy a competitive spirit whilst encouraging mutual respect and teamwork.
